

Community Benefit Annual Report

As part of our commitment to Boulder County and Colorado, Good Samaritan Medical Center addresses the most critical needs of the communities we serve; with emphasis on helping people live the healthiest lives possible. We were founded to address health priorities, and through strong community collaborations and thoughtful assessment of needs, we continue that work today.

Good Samaritan Supports Local Partners Who Provide Vital Community Resources

The mission of Good Samaritan Medical Center, now part of Intermountain Health, is helping people live their healthiest lives possible. To accomplish this mission, we join forces with community leaders, local public health officials and community members to identify and address social needs that have the greatest impact on our communities. There are times when these community collaborators have more expertise and ability to reach specific populations than Good Samaritan and we are proud to support their efforts through the annual Doing Good Grant.

The Doing Good Grant awards up to $15,000 to local nonprofits that are addressing social determinants of health, or those factors outside of healthcare that have profound impact on overall well-being. In 2022, Good Samaritan provided a total of $102,250 to five organizations that offered resources for housing instability, food insecurity, lack of transportation and access to care. Good Samaritan is grateful for the efforts of these organizations to address the physical, mental and social needs of the communities we serve.

Via Mobility received a $15,000 grant to support their services of door-to-door transportation for older adults, people with disabilities, low-income individuals, and rural residents.

2022-2024
Community Health
Priorities

Every three years Good Samaritan Medical Center works with public health stakeholders, community members and other health care providers to understand and assess the most important local health needs.

Based on the most recent assessment in 2021, Good Samaritan identified the health priorities that will be the focus of community benefit efforts, programs and collaborations for the following three years.

-  Behavioral Health (Mental Health & Substance Use)
-  Access to Healthcare

What is Community Benefit?

The IRS has federal requirements for nonprofit hospitals like Good Samaritan Medical Center to report their investments in Community Benefit activities which are programs or activities that provide treatment and/or promote health and healing as a response to community needs:

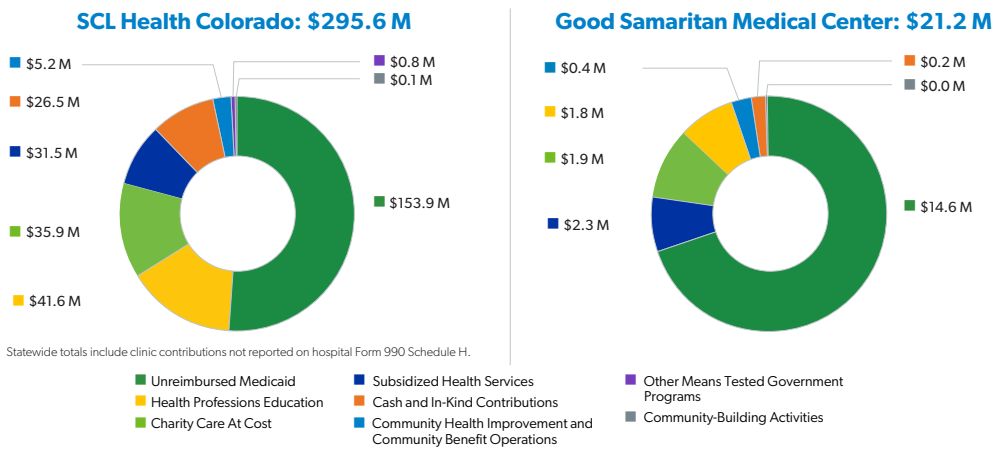

- Improve access to care
- Enhance the health of a community
- Advance medical or health knowledge
- Reduce the burden of local, state, federal government, or other community efforts

When reporting to the IRS, Community Benefit investments are organized into the following general categories:

- Unreimbursed costs for care provided to Medicaid beneficiaries
- Charity care and financial assistance for patients who are unable to pay for care
- Cash and in-kind contributions to support identified community health needs
- Health professions education, including clinical training for nursing, pharmacy, and other health professions

- Subsidized health services, which are services provided at a loss but without which the community's access to care would suffer
- Means-tested government programs, which includes the unreimbursed care under means-tested programs like the Child Health Plan Plus (CHP+)
- Community-building activities, including participating in community coalitions to advance health and physician recruitment to maintain health care access
- Research includes studies or investigations that increase knowledge made available to the public (Note: No Research investments were reported in 2022)
