

Good Samaritan Hospital

Community Benefit Annual Report

As part of our commitment to the Front Range and Colorado, Good Samaritan Hospital addresses the most critical needs of the communities we serve with a mission of helping people live the healthiest lives possible. We were founded to address health needs, and through a comprehensive assessment and strong local collaborators, we continue that work today.

Good Health Begins in Healthy Homes

Good Samaritan Hospital organized a team of caregivers to participate in a Paint-a-Thon. The project was in collaboration with Brothers Redevelopment, a local not-for-profit that assists low-income residents with home improvements. Home environments have conclusively been linked to physical, mental, and social well-being.

The painting crew assisted a former patient, who experienced an accident 20 years ago that permanently altered her physical and financial capabilities. With time and healing, she regained her independence, but the costs of repainting her house were insurmountable.

“They came and gave me their time, company, and humor, and watching the camaraderie between them was a delight,” said the homeowner. “It was kind of like extended family because I spent so much time at the hospital. I gained more than having my house painted. It was refreshing, and just having them here was wonderful.”

Good Samaritan caregivers assisted a former patient with a home revitalization project.

What is Community Benefit?

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has federal requirements for not-for-profit hospitals to report their investments in Community Benefit activities, which provide treatment and/or promote health and healing as a response to community needs:

- Improve access to care
- Enhance the health of a community
- Advance medical or health knowledge
- Reduce the burden of health care on local, state, federal government, or other community efforts

When reporting to the IRS, Community Benefit investments are organized into the following general categories:

- Unreimbursed costs for care provided to Medicaid beneficiaries.
- Charity care and financial assistance for patients who are unable to pay for care.
- Cash and in-kind contributions to support identified community health needs.

- Health professions education, including clinical training for nursing, pharmacy, and other health professions.
- Subsidized health services, which are services provided at a loss but without which the community's access to care would suffer.
- Means-tested government programs, which includes the unreimbursed care under means-tested programs like the Child Health Plan Plus (CHP+).
- Community building activities, including participating in community coalitions to advance health and physician recruitment to maintain health care access.
- Research, including studies or investigations that increase knowledge made available to the public. (Note: No Research investments were reported in 2023.)
